Question 1

1559 B1

Answer: 1559

Question 2

they were deprived of (removed from) their bishoprics/positions B1

Answer: They were deprived of their bishoprics.

Question 3

the 1552 Book of Common Prayer (Edward VI's second Prayer Book) B1

Answer: The 1552 Book of Common Prayer

Question 4

some traditional/Catholic-looking features were kept, such as certain clerical vestments and some ceremony in services B1

core doctrine was made clearly Protestant, for example rejecting the pope's authority through the Oath of Supremacy, so the settlement satisfied neither committed Catholics nor the strictest Protestants completely B1

Answer: It kept some Catholic-looking ceremony while making doctrine clearly Protestant.

Question 5

feature 1 identified, e.g. some traditional Catholic-style elements were retained, such as certain vestments and ceremonial in church services B1

supporting detail for feature 1, e.g. this was intended to reassure worshippers with more traditional beliefs that the new Church was not a complete break from familiar practice B1

feature 2 identified, e.g. the wording of the Communion service in the 1559 Book of Common Prayer was deliberately ambiguous B1

supporting detail for feature 2, e.g. by blending 1549 and 1552 wording, it allowed both more traditional and more committed Protestant worshippers to interpret the service in line with their own beliefs B1

Answer: Any two features, e.g. retained traditional ceremony and vestments, and deliberately ambiguous Communion wording.
